Resident Information

Roosevelt is in beautiful Monmouth County. It is approximately two square miles. Roosevelt preserves the small town atmosphere that has been lost in so many other places. Founded as Jersey Homesteads, and named after President Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Roosevelt's unique character sets it apart from other communities. Under current New Jersey law, there are four basic forms of municipal government, each deriving its powers from the state legislature. The four forms of government are borough, city, town, and township. The borough form of government was created in 1878 and modified by the Borough Act of 1987. There are approximately 218 municipalities using the borough form of government, which is supervised by a mayor and six council members, all of whom are elected at large. There are 37 boroughs in Monmouth County. Roosevelt is unique in its greenbelt plan. Smart growth planning.
